

DELECE A. BROOKS has been with the State Board of Workers' Compensation for twenty years and currently serves as the Executive Director/Chief Operating Officer.

She is responsible for the administration of policy and procedure and the overall efficiency of the State Board of Workers' Compensation. While at the Board, Ms. Brooks has had the opportunity to serve as the Appellate Division Director, Legislative Liaison for the Board, served on the Chairman's Advisory Council, and as a member of the core team for the creation of ICMS I and II. Before the Board, Ms. Brooks has held several positions in governmental relations. She has served as the Legal Advisor to the Speaker Pro Tem in the Georgia State House and has worked as a lobbyist in Washington D.C. for the American Legislative Exchange Council. After earning her Bachelor of Science degree from Arizona State University, she graduated from Syracuse University College of Law earning her Juris Doctorate degree.

She and her husband, Todd and their daughter Addison live in Atlanta.